

Joschka Laukeninks // biography & filmography

Joschka was born in Hamburg, Germany in 1989. After finishing school, he wrote and directed his first short films „Alles wegen des Hundes“ (2008), „Everything’s so Silent“ (2010) and „Back to Solitude“ (2011). This also launched his career as a commercial director. He worked for different national and international clients and kept writing short film scripts and music videos. In 2014, preproduction started for his latest short film project „BACKSTORY“ (2016), which was shot over a period of 17 shooting days in 1,5 years and until now has won more than 30 international awards. Joschka is currently working on his first feature-length script and lives in Berlin and Hamburg.
